

Working and Living in Bournemouth

I have been living in Bournemouth for two months now. I have settled in very well and quite easy. It was not a big deal for me to leave Switzerland as I like to be abroad and be on my own.

After the first two week I started my internship at the Anglo-Continental English School in Bournemouth. I am quite happy with that job as I like the staff and the work which I am doing, of course it is a big different from Switzerland because they don't work as long as we do and they don't really have the same work organisation. Every Tuesday and Thursday afternoon we have class to approve our English and to hopefully pass our exam which we have in December.

Bournemouth itself is quite a lovely town with lot of bars and club in which we like to go on the weekends. As we all are 18 and over in our group it is really easy to go out and have a drink. On the first weekend we went paddle boarding in Bournemouth which was really nice although the weather wasn't as good.

We really like to explore new things but mostly we went outside of Bournemouth on the weekend as we didn't want to spend the whole six month only in Bournemouth. Once we have rent a car and drove around the Jurassic coast and we also went to Stonehenge and some little towns. What we have done quite often was a bicycle tour to Christchurch, New Forest or to West cliff.

One weekend the other group from Torquay came to Bournemouth and we have made a boat tour in Christchurch.

I live here in a friendly host family with two host sisters, who one went to university in September and my host parents. We live in a typical English row house with a beautiful big garden. They have two cats and I really like to be with them.

I am curious to see what the next few months will bring and I am already looking forward to it.
